

"You Never Said Good Bye"

You never said I'm leaving,
You never said goodbye, you were gone
Before we knew it and only God knows why.
A million times I needed you, a million times
I cried. If love alone could have saved you, you never would have died. In life I loved you dearly in death I love you still. In my heart you hold a place that no one could ever fill. It broke my heart to lose you but you didn't go alone. For part of me went with you the day God called you come.

Obituary

Jerome McMillon (aka Abdul Sabur) also affectionately called “Bones”, was born to Naomi McMillon (deceased) in Cleveland, Ohio on November 3, 1948. Jerome was lovingly raised by his maternal grandparents, Lizora and John McMillon who both preceded him in death.

Lizora and John raised Jerome here in Cleveland, Ohio. Jerome attended Cleveland Public Schools as a youth and later became an employee at Conrail Railroad Company. It was during this time in his life that he converted to Islam and chose the name, Abdul Sabur. During his employment with Conrail, Jerome served as a “Jitney”, what we now know as Uber or Lyft, he was clearly ahead of his time.

In 1974, Jerome married Stella Mae Jackson to which two children were born, Safiya Halima and Siddeeq Kamal.

He was also preceded in death by two siblings, Carolyn and James.

Abdul leaves to cherish his memory, his two children, Safiya and Siddeeq (Deanna), three grandchildren: Siddeeq Jr., Jayden William and Sydnee Marie, siblings: Michelle Bailey, Marshall Wymes and Alfonso Wymes. He also leaves a host of nieces, nephews, cousins as well as a loving aunt, Louella Robinson and uncle, Phillip McMillon. Abdul will be greatly missed.

Humbly submitted,
The Family
